The Edward C. Smith Civic Center was brought to their feet and brought to tears by the incredible evening's journey of musicality performed by Mary, Marta and Maggy MOIPEI. No theatre could hope for more during an evening filled with pop, jazz, show tunes and heartfelt songs from their homeland, Kenya, during the most engaging performance we've ever seen here in Lexington, N.C. Their harmonies were perfect, their arrangements were incomparable, their sense of humor was infectious and they are truly beautiful, inside and out, giving their all to the most professional theatrical performance one could hope to discover. They come in ready to change your world, let them, you will be very happy that you did. What an amazing event, memorable evening! We could not have asked for more!. Beautiful, harmonious voices that brought me to tears ... their vocal blend is like I have never heard before ... Wow! - Stephen Schwartz

More than blessed with beautiful voices, the identical triplet sisters have impeccable comedic timing and their many individual talents shined through. Grace Jordan - Broadway World

The simple and economic truth is that the Moipei Triplets sound sensational when they sing - at times mind-blowing, others endearing, but always, always enjoyable. Stephen Moshier - Broadway World

They have become as iconic as Kenya's sportsmen and women but for a different kind of muscle ... their vocal cords. NATION TV Kenya
